Plan and provide a creative experience for a child. If you are not currently working in a child care setting, plan an experience for your child, a niece or nephew, or the child of a friend.

Use the worksheet that follows to guide you through the process of:

- Identifying the child's interests and development
- Planning a creative experience for the child
- Evaluating the experience you planned

Part I: Identifying the child's interests and development

The Child

Select one child. The child is _____ year(s) old.

Observe this child to determine the stage of creative development and the child's creative interests. This is easiest to see in the way the child uses materials when drawing, painting, modelling, or building with blocks. Select an experience in which the child chooses the materials and what to do with the materials.

What experience(s) I observed:

How was the child using the materials? (Be specific):

Session 10 Assignment Questions

Based on my observations, the child's stage of creative development seems to be (put a check in the blank)

____ Basic Exploration ____ Non-representative ____ Representative

Part II: Planning a creative experience for the child

Briefly outline an open-ended, creative experience that will provide another opportunity for the child's creative development.

List the materials you will provide.

How is this experience appropriate to the child's stage of creative development?

Session 10 Assignment Questions

Describe how it is open-ended to encourage creativity.

When the child is using the materials, what type of questions might you ask to promote creativity?

Write at least one question that would encourage the child to give a creative response.

Session 10 Assignment Questions

Part III: Evaluating the experience you planned

Carry out this open-ended experience with the child. Afterward, record the following information:

Briefly describe how the child explored the activity planned.

Developmentally, what skills did the child practice during the creative experience?

Session 10 Assignment Questions

Was the activity appropriate for the age and developmental level of the child? If not, why?

Why is it important to support children's creative development?

Session 10 Assignment Questions

What did you learn about yourself through this activity?
